WELL KNOWN SEATTLE LAWYER MENTIONED FOR CONGRESSMAN

Thomas F. Murphine's friends want him to Succeed Will E. Humphrey

The following is reprinted from the Town Crier, a popular and influential weekly published in Seattle, and is indicative of the growing sentiment in favor of Mr. Murphine in progressive Republican ranks.

"Tom Murphine may not have started to think seriously of the matter, but others have; and among these others you will find many who do not agree at any point with Murphine's pronouncedly progressive views on public questions, but who have faith in his ability and honesty of purpose.

Through all the ranks of the stand-patters, insurgents, reactionaries, socialists and anarchists, to say nothing of the common, every-day Republicans and Democrats, runs a strong current of sentiment favoring the retirement of Congressman W. E. Humphrey at the next opportunity. Humphrey should have been carried out of office on the wave of insurgency that swept the state last year. A more sincere progressive than Tom Revelle would have beaten him in the primaries; a staunch Seattle Democrat, such as Charlie Reynolds, or Charlie Helfner, would have cleaned him up at the election. Humphrey's victory was due solely to the weakness of the opposition, and the opposition, in both parties, has doubtless learned its lesson. Humphrey has been trying frantically to break into the good graces of the progressives in this district, going so far, in disregard for his oath of office, as to carry comfort and consolation to men jailed for defiance of the orders of the orders of a United States court; but the texture of his efforts is too filmy. The progressives see through it and the standing disgust of old-time Republicans has been intensified.

The situation, with insurgent ideas predominate next year as they did last, makes an opportunity which no man is more fit to take advantage of than Thomas F. Murphine. He is chairman of the county Republican Central Committee, the choice of all party factions, and has always been active in city, county and state politics. He is young, energetic, a student of affairs and a good talker. If he should decide to run there is little likelihood of insurgent opposition, while his candidacy would attract thousands of votes of those who are sick and tired of Humphrey."

A SPLENDID CHRISTMAS LETTER FROM PARIS

Irma Blau Yost writes interestingly of European Countries and Cities

Hoping that the account published in the NEWS of our tour of Switzerland and Germany during our vacation last year, was of some interest to the News family, I feel justified in making an attempt to briefly chronicle the events and experiences it has been our privilege to enjoy during the last two weeks of August, when we were out of Paris for our annual holiday. I might add here that we were not alone in leaving the unprecedented heat of this city during that time, for it is estimated that during a portion of August nearly a million inhabitants of Paris had gone to the country and sea-shore for a breath of fresh air.

During this time the American tourists form a goodly portion of the population, as very few of them miss Paris when in Europe. They are everywhere considered the most strenuous sight-seers and generally go as far and see as much in one day as Europeans in two days. It is claimed that one cannot thus learn as much about a country or its people. This may be true, but I notice that when the American returns to the land of the free he often knows as much of European countries as the natives themselves.

Having made an iron-clad rule that we should see a different country each year during our summer vacations, we could not return to the enticing Swiss Alps, where life is like a dream to the tourist, but turned our faces to the northland; anything to get away from this tropical sun under which Paris has been sweltering.

The morning of August 25th found us boarding one of the 750 trains that leave daily from the Northern station at Paris. We were soon swept away northward toward the Belgian Frontier at the rate of 45 miles per hour, seldom making a stop. The train was packed with holiday crowds and comfort was only a dim fancy.

France has suffered extremely from drought and heat this summer. Therefore the crops look anything but promising. There is a fair crop of oats, barley and potatoes in northern France, but hay and fruit are very poor, and the pastures were short. The few cattle we saw were in good condition and did not seem to be suffering from the flies and other pests.

The landscape here presents quite a picturesque appearance, the surface being rolling, with plenty of streams and forests, especially in the north of France. Near Paris in the Seine valley it is comparatively flat. Canals cut up the country in every direction. Much of the freight is carried by this method, which is a rather slow process but cheaper and helps to regulate railroad freight rates. As the Belgian frontier was reached the land became more rough and the crops poorer. Pastures were all dry and only one crop of hay had been cut this season. In conversation with a Belgian farmer near Brussels he said that they had not had a good crop for three years. Their expenses must be heavy too for they find it necessary to fertilize every foot of their fields, either with manure or a commercial fertilizer. Every freight train carries from one to a half dozen carloads of manure from the cities to the country. Our country is bound to come to this system by and by. If our farmers knew what is best for their fast impoverishing farm lands they would not let so much manure go to waste in the cattle sheds and barnyards.

The French trains are not known for their comfort neither for great speed, as a rule. In all our travels we found them the most uncomfortable and the filthiest. The class of people we saw are also far below those in England, Scotland and Holland in appearance, intelligence and

PORT COMM. FAVORS BELLEVUE FERRY

Vote to be had on bonds therefore in April

By a Bellevueite

On Thursday, the 14th, the Port Commission had a hearing on the proposition of the Anderson Steamboat Company to operate a ferry on the lake between Leschi Park and Medina, providing suitable landings would be furnished. Of course the effect of this proposal, if accepted, would be to prevent the Port Commission from constructing any ferry for Bellevue, as demanded by the East Side, and would tend to develop a private monopoly of transportation on the lake. The movement was well organized and strongly supported by a number of prominent citizens and capitalists of Seattle. However the Bellevue Ferry Committee and Mayor A. B. Newell, of Kirkland, representing that community and the East Side Commercial Club, of which he is President, were present and put up such a vigorous fight against the proposition, and in favor of the public ferry to Bellevue, as demanded by the people, that the Port Commission very wisely decided that the question of a private monopoly as against a public service was of such importance to the people, that the people themselves should pass upon it, and accordingly adopted a resolution providing that the question be submitted to the voters of the county in the March election, on a proposal for a bond issue for the purpose. This action was in line with the arguments advanced by our representatives, and means a signal victory for the people of the East Side and of the city, and shows that the members of the Port Commission are fair and broad-minded men, who are not to be influenced by any consideration other than the welfare and the will of the people themselves. The Bellevue Ferry Committee speak in the very highest terms of the able and loyal assistance given by Mr. Newell, of Kirkland, in the hearing, and it now up to the people to see that the Ferry Committee is properly supported, and that the bond proposal carries in the March election. The opposition will be organized and powerful, and the most persistent and systematic work will be required, but as the system of transportation we are to have on Lake Washington in the future depends on this fight, and as the result is of such importance to the entire district, we believe that the people will be thoroughly alive to the emergency, and will see that means are found for pushing the campaign vigorously, and securing the necessary publicity in the city, showing the necessity for the service, and the importance to the people of the city, of this proposed ferry service. We must win, and we can. Let everybody do their part and we will get a public ferry service. We have plenty of friends in the city; it is simply a matter of organizing them.

KIRKLAND WINS H. S. DEBATE

Federal Conservation of resources the best

Although a valiant fight and a good argument was put up by the Edmunds High School debaters, Walter Taylor and Miles Cary, Kirkland High, represented by Harold Everest and Coal Newell won the second of the series of State Interscholastic debates Wednesday night.

Kirkland had the negative of the question, "Resolved that the Conservation of our Natural Resources should be a function of state rather than Federal Government."

This debate is the second of the state series between high schools, the first being lost to Kirkland by Snohomish. Last year our team was the victor over all competitors, the team then consisting of Arthur Younger and Harold Everest. But as Coal Newell won the state championship in Oratory last year, our chances to win in debate this year are not bad.

Congregational Church of Bellevue plans for future

The following appeared in the Seattle Times this week, and was accompanied by a picture of Rev. Mr. Strong. The article truly represents the sentiment of all those who know Mr. Strong and his work:

"Under leadership of its pastor, Rev. Arthur B. Strong, the Congregational church of Bellevue last evening held its annual meeting in the church, east of Lake Washington, and made plans for the coming year. In attendance were not only a large number of the congregation, but also pastors and friends from the west side. "Bellevue Congregational church is looked upon as one of the model rural community churches of the state, having entered into the social sphere and made numerous advances along religious and social lines. Various fraternal organizations hold regular meetings in the structure; one evening is given over to the Japanese for study and discussion, and the church's gymnasium is the principal attraction for the young men. Rev. Arthur Strong has been pastor of the church for three years, and its progressive movement has been due largely to his efforts."

Constable and His Picture.

Constable, the eminent British painter, once sat on the hanging committee of the British Royal Academy when a small landscape was brought up for judgment and pronounced "awfully bad" by everybody but himself. He rose and made a short and startling speech. "That picture was painted by me. I had a notion that some of you didn't like my work, and this is a pretty convincing proof. I am very much obliged to you." When his colleagues recovered from their stupefaction the head carpenter was bidden to bring back the picture. But Constable would not have it. "Out it goes!" he said grimly.

Making a Will.

Always call in a lawyer to make a will. If one cannot be procured then write your wishes in the simplest words you can. Never try to use what you may consider "legal terms." Few persons realize how difficult it is to make a will. A classic example is the celebrated Lord St. Leonards, at one time lord chancellor of England. He was the foremost conveyancer of his day, and yet when he died an informal will was found in his coat pocket, hurriedly written when he was at the point of death. This will occupied the courts for years and served "to point a moral and adorn a tale."—London Mail.

"A Soft Answer."

A somewhat tactless youth had taken an unwarranted liberty in criticizing the new hat of a lady friend, and she was about to say that she was not inclined to be dictated to by any man "I do not propose," she began, but he interrupted her. "If you did," he murmured, "I should certainly say 'Yes!'" And his offense was forgiven.

BELLEVUE

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hamley and sons, spent Sunday in Bellevue.

Ten persons were received into membership of the First Congregational church last Sunday morning.

A photograph of Vivian Martin appeared in the New York Telegraph last Sunday.

Miss Lillie Osland of Seattle, spent Wednesday evening with Mrs. J. A. Hoody.

Mrs. Frank Pratt of Seattle has been visiting her mother, Mrs. C. E. Bernard and sister, Mrs. M. P. Oulds at Medina.

The mid-week meetings of the Baptist church on Thursday night will be regularly held as a revival service to which everybody is invited.

Mrs. J. B. Warren has been spending several days in Seattle at the home of her daughter, Mrs. A. S. Burrows.

The Christmas tree exercises of the Bellevue Baptist church will occur this Saturday evening at 7:30. Come and enjoy a good time with the children.

A photograph of the Rev. Arthur B. Strong together with an article regarding our Community Hall, appeared in the Seattle Times Saturday evening.

The special meetings that have proved such a blessing to both the churches in Bellevue are expected to be renewed after holidays. Watch for notice.

Rev. J. H. Teale will speak on "Something Better Than Christmas Coin" at Bellevue tomorrow morning and in the evening at Medina on "If Christ Had Not Come."

The evening service at Medina will be held at 7:30 in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln instead of at the school house.

The people are asked to take notice of this change and find their way to the home of Mr. Lincoln.

The annual meeting of the Congregational church and society together with the banquet occurred last Friday evening in the Community Hall. While the attendance was not as large as on previous occasions, the same spirit of good fellowship which has marked the other meetings was displayed and the evening was most enjoyable. Reports of the heads of the various departments were given, each showing much progress over the previous year. Hugh Martin was chairman of the meeting and short talks were delivered by the pastor, Rev. Arthur B. Strong, Rev. C. R. Gale, Miss Knowlton and Mr. L. F. Swift of Seattle.

AVONDALE

The Ladies' Aid meets with Mrs. Provan on Dec. 28.

Mr. Louis Beba has purchased a fine new piano for his family.

Mr. C. I. Chamberlin is clearing up another piece of land on Judge Frater's ranch.

The county road in northern Avondale is being put in fine shape, crushed rock being laid on the road.

Miss Adaline Provan spent Saturday and Sunday with her cousin Miss Agnes Barrie, of Kirkland.

Mrs. Robert Zalondek of Seattle, formerly Miss Ella Chamberlin, spent Sunday and Monday with her parents in Avondale.

School closed last Friday and will reopen on January 2. Miss Abercrombie and Miss Carver left on Saturday for their homes at Astoria, Ore., and Bellingham, respectively.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Ames of Seattle visited on Sunday at the Ekdahl home. Mr. Ames owns the ranch, formerly the Scholen place, which until recently was occupied by Mr. Edw. Hagmo.

The new school organ arrived last week and is a very neat little instrument with a "mission style" case and lots of good music inside. Its selection indicates good judgment on the part of the teachers, who did the buying.

Evangelists Abbott and Johnson have been attending a conference this past week at Milltown in Snohomish county. Mrs. F. Weiss, John Weiss and Julian Beba also attended the conference.

If you are buying a diamond, a watch, a ring, jewelry, cut glass or silverware, and feel that you cannot afford to pay more than you have to, go to DAVIS' at 715 3rd Avenue, formerly of 108 Cherry St., Their store is not in the list of auction, second-hand, or 50 per cent off fakes, but at the same time are showing a line of regular prices that are lower than any of the sales in the city. This information is to the interest of your pocket-book, and when one can save can save from $2 to $10 on a watch it does not pay to go to the large 2nd Avenue stores with the big expenses. If you do you must help pay for the enormous rents etc. Mr. Davis has been doing business in Seattle for 5 years and proposes continuing along with his system of low prices which has won for him a city wide reputation. His motto of "Lower expenses, lower prices," is a good one. The address is 715 3rd Avenue Seattle.

Everyone is cordially invited to the Christmas entertainment given by the Sunday school on Saturday evening, Dec. 23. An offering will be taken to be devoted to the Washington Children's Home. A good program and a bag of candy and nuts for all.

"A Soft Answer."

A somewhat tactless youth had taken an unwarranted liberty in criticising the new hat of a lady friend, and she was about to say that she was not inclined to be dictated to by any man. "I do not propose," she began, but he interrupted her.
"If you did," he murmured, "I should certainly say 'Yes!'"
And his offense was forgiven.

BELLEVUE

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hamley and sons, spent Sunday in Bellevue.

Ten persons were received into membership of the First Congregational church last Sunday morning.

A photograph of Vivian Martin appeared in the New York Telegraph last Sunday.

Miss Lillie Osland of Seattle, spent Wednesday evening with Mrs. J. A. Hoadly.

Mrs. Frank Pratt of Seattle has been visiting her mother, Mrs. C. E. Bernard and sister, Mrs. M. P. Oulds at Medina.

The mid-week meetings of the Baptist church on Thursday night will be regularly held as a revival service to which everybody is invited.

Mrs. J. B. Warren has been spending several days in Seattle at the home of her daughter, Mrs. A. S. Burrows.

The Christmas tree exercises of the Bellevue Baptist church will occur this Saturday evening at 7:30. Come and enjoy a good time with the children.

A photograph of the Rev. Arthur B. Strong together with an article regarding our Community Hall, appeared in the Seattle Times Saturday evening.

The special meetings that have proved such a blessing to both the churches in Bellevue are expected to be renewed after holidays. Watch for notice.

Rev. J. H. Teale will speak on "Something Better Than Christmas Coin" at Bellevue tomorrow morning and in the evening at Medina on "If Christ Had Not Come."

The evening service at Medina will be held at 7:30 in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln instead of at the school house.

The people are asked to take notice of this change and find their way to the home of Mr. Lincoln.

The annual meeting of the Congregational church and society together with the banquet occurred last Friday evening in the Community Hall. While the attendance was not as large as on previous occasions, the same spirit of good fellowship which has marked the other meetings was displayed and the evening was most enjoyable. Reports of the heads of the various departments were given, each showing much progress over the previous year. Hugh Martin was chairman of the meeting and short talks were delivered by the pastor, Rev. Arthur B. Strong, Rev. C. R. Gale, Miss Knowlton and Mr. L. F. Swift of Seattle.

AVONDALE

The Ladies' Aid meets with Mrs. Provan on Dec. 28.

Mr. Louis Beba has purchased a fine new piano for his family.

Mr. C. I. Chamberlin is clearing up another piece of land on Judge Frater's ranch.

The county road in northern Avondale is being put in fine shape, crushed rock being laid on the road.

Miss Adaline Provan spent Saturday and Sunday with her cousin Miss Agnes Barrie, of Kirkland.

Mrs. Robert Zalondek of Seattle, formerly Miss Ella Chamberlin, spent Sunday and Monday with her parents in Avondale.

School closed last Friday and will reopen on January 2. Miss Abercrombie and Miss Carver left on Saturday for their homes at Astoria, Ore., and Bellingham, respectively.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Ames of Seattle visited on Sunday at the Ekdahl home. Mr. Ames owns the ranch, formerly the Scholen place, which until recently was occupied by Mr. Edw. Hagmoer.

The new school organ arrived last week and is a very neat little instrument with a "mission style" case and lots of good music inside. Its selection indicates good judgment on the part of the teachers, who did the buying.

Evangelists Abbott and Johnson have been attending a conference this past week at Milltown in Snohomish county. Mrs. F. Weiss, John Weiss and Julian Beba also attended the conference.

If you are buying a diamond, a watch, a ring, jewelry, cut glass or silverware, and feel that you cannot afford to pay more than you have to, go to DAVIS' at 715 3rd Avenue, formerly of 108 Cherry St. Their store is not in the list of auction, second-hand, or 50 per cent off fakes, but at the same time are showing a line of regular prices that are lower than any of the sales in the city. This information is to the interest of your pocket-book, and when one can save can save from $2 to $10 on a watch it does not pay to go to the large 2nd Avenue stores with the big expenses. If you do you must help pay for the enormous rents etc.

Mr. Davis has been doing business in Seattle for 5 years and proposes continuing along with his system of low prices which has won for him a city wide reputation. His motto of "Lower expenses, lower prices." is a good one. The address is 715 3rd Avenue Seattle.

Everyone is cordially invited to the Christmas entertainment given by the Sunday school on Saturday evening, Dec. 23. An offering will be taken to be devoted to the Washington Children's Home. A good program and a bag of candy and nuts for all.

Mr. S. I. Spurling, who has been in Hillsburg for a few months, returned to Kirkland the first of the week.

Robert Tillmann, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Tillmann, of South Kirkland, is at home from Centralia, for a few days during the holidays. He has been away for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry D. French and daughter, Olivia, of South Kirkland, expect to leave Sunday morning for Portland, Ore., where they will spend the holidays with Mrs. French's sister, Mrs. Faulkner.

The recital held by Miss Goodnow last Friday night, was a decided success, and the evening was greatly enjoyed by all the Kirklandites that were able to be present.

on Christmas day as usual, and requests that patrons be ready to receipt for registered packages on that date.

Mrs. S. R. Nettleton and daughter, Miss Marie Nettleton, expect to go to Ferndale, Washington, on Saturday, to visit Mr. Stiles Nettleton, who has a farm there.

The meeting of the East Side Commercial Club held last Saturday evening, convened at 8 p. m. with President A. B. Newell as chairman, but on account of the Kirkland vs. Edmunds High school debate, in which his son was to take part, Mr. Newell left, Mr. A. J. Uphus, of South Kirkland taking the chair.

Word was received from the Northern Pacific Railway Co., that an order was made on November 21st requiring the installation of a station and depot with station and express agent at Kirkland within 90 days. Under this order the station must be in with in that time. The location, under the order, must be on or near the Kirkland-Redmond road.

Next meeting of the club on the first Saturday in January, at Kirkland. Officers for the next year will be elected, and a large attendance is urged.

Word was received this week by W. W. White, engineer of the ferry Washington, that his mother, Mrs. M. J. White, of Oakland, Calif., died the first of the week. Mrs. White was one of the pioneers of Seattle, and had a large circle of friends here.

We want names for our new addition on the State Road near Kirkland; "Collinswood" Div. No. 2, and will pay $20.00 cash for the most suitable names. Call at East Side News office for circulars or at our office at Ferry Dock, Kirkland, or 904 Third Avenue, Seattle.

R. H. Collins & Son

On account of the fact that the Holiday season is crowded socially, the Committee in charge of the High School Alumni Banquet has decided to postpone the annual meeting until June, when it will be held in connection with Commencement Exercises, probably on Saturday evening.

Mayor A. B. Newell, Carl Blau and I. G. Robinson had a short bear hunt Monday morning, but without results. Carl Blau saw the animal on the hill just back of Houghton, and said he was a tremendous beast. But when the hunters from Kirkland arrived on the scene, there was nothing to be found except where he had been. Mr. Robinson is a famous hunter, and a large number of bears have fallen before his rifle, while Mr. Newell has a pack of hunting dogs that do nothing else but hunt bear and cougar, so they may get bruin yet.

A regular monthly council meeting for the month of December was held last Monday night in the council rooms in the A. O. U. W. Hall, the formal passage of the electric car-line franchise and the lighting franchise being the most important business transacted.

This formal proceeding clears up all the legal obstacles that lie in the way of the electric line in Kirkland and the street committee of the council Tuesday morning looked over the locations for the pole holes with R. S. Jackson, of South Kirkland, the Engineer for the company, and settled that phase of the case.

Several bills were presented at the meeting, but Attorney Stillinger directed the attention of the council to the fact that they were not sworn to, and they were laid over until the next meeting.

Off the Map.
An Irishman called in at a Chinese laundry and found the proprietor counting his collars.

"Be jabbers," said he, "you're a funny lookin' man—you wld the horse's mane hangin' down your back. And where—oh, where—do ye come from?"

But the oriental did not understand, so merely said, "Countee collars, countee collars."

"Bedad, then," said Mick, "ye're a loir, for there's no sich county in Oireland at all, at all."—London Ideas.

Writers Whose Works Are Unread.
With care and precision the journal clerks of the senate prepare the daily chronicle of the senate's doings. They are proud of their achievements, and justly so. It is a cause of sore disappointment to the makers of that journal when some thoughtless senator, eager for the morning's business, moves to suspend further reading.

Other clerks around the desk enjoy the joke and when the proceeding is concluded repeat in an undertone from man to man:

"Another insult."—Washington Post.

CHRISTMAS LETTER FROM PARIS

in their respect for one's feelings. Our train was composed of about twelve coaches divided into first, second and third classes, rates being fixed accordingly. The coaches are about half the size of the American coaches and are divided into compartments holding from six to eight persons, one half sitting backwards and the other half forwards. Every compartment has a door opening from the side of the coach, and often there are no aisles in the coaches, neither toilets. When a train pulls into a station all the doors may be seen to fly open and the passenger steps from the side of the car. The first and second class coaches are quite comfortable, whereas the third class have only hard benches for seats which become harder the longer you sit on them. The train is pulled by a small, low, flat engine resembling somewhat an old turtleback switch engine, except that it is not so large and high. For fuel they use manufactured briquettes, cubes 8 inches in length and 6 inches in width and 4 inches in depth, composed of a mixture of coal dust, clay and tar, the whole being firmly compressed. In fact this is our heating material in Paris. We pay $14 per ton for it and this is cheaper than coal.

We were hoping that we had escaped things Parisian, but when we reached Quevy on the Belgian front by a couple of butterflies from Paris one of whom smoked cigarettes incessantly to the great annoyance of some of the passengers. The rest of the time she consumed in drinking stale beer from a bottle she had at her side. When she had exhausted her supply of Parisian cigarettes she smoked some Belgian. Before alighting from the train at Brussels she enlisted the services of one of the Belgians to help her arrange her toilet. He took the beer bottle at her request and poured its contents over her hands while she washed them. "Wash if it were water. Then a few strokes of red wax on her lips and she was ready to start down the fashionable Boulevard Anspach. Fortunately this type is not in the majority, although it is said that there are more than 200,000 prostitutes in Paris alone.

BRUSSELS

Brussels may be rightly called the little Paris, for in manner, dress customs and language it is just like Paris on a small scale. French is the principal language although a great deal of Flemish is heard. This seems to be a mixture of French, English and German with the latter predominating. Having a knowledge of those three languages we understood much of the Flemish and got on very nicely. This city has a population of 624,000 and judging from the numerous buildings in course of construction it is growing at a rapid rate. It is considered one of the beautiful cities of Europe. Architecturally and in the general plan of its system of boulevards and parks it resembles very much Paris. There are the old portions with narrow crooked streets and many structures dating back beyond the 16th century, some of the houses being propped up with strong braces to prevent them from toppling over. During the reign of the two Leopolds many fine public edifices were erected, among them being the Palais Royal where resides the royal family; the great art gallery and many fine monuments. The Palais de Justice is without doubt the finest specimen of modern architecture in this city. It stands on a high hill overlooking the city and is pointed to with pride by all the inhabitants.

Among the church edifices dating back to the 17th century, St. Gudule may be considered as the leading one. It has rare mural decorations on the interior. On the day of our visit to this church there happened, processions, etc. As the procession passed us in the rear of the church one of the highly decorated functionaries with a cockade on his head and a long stick in his hand for beating time, ordered us to get down on our knees as an idol borne on a platform was passing us. We wished only to be reverential spectators having due respect for their peculiar form of worship, but to be ordered to get down on the stone floor was just a little pricking to our American natures and we remained standing in our places, notwithstanding the threats and menaces of the dignitary who tried hard to break through the line and get at us. It was all that saved us.
